

Department of
Medical Education
Melbourne Medical School

The Department of Medical Education holds weekly research roundtables presented by both our own staff and visitors to the Department.

Research roundtables

June 2019

6 June

EXCITE STUDENT PRESENTATIONS

Creating high performance resuscitation teams: A Learning Needs Analysis on resuscitation education in ICU - Kylie Moon

Checklist and global marking of Objective Structured Clinical Examinations (OSCEs) in Australian and NZ Medical Schools - Catherine Muringi Nyuthe

Clinical reasoning for inter-professional pregnancy care – everyone on the same page! - Michelle Schlipalius

13 June

MDRP STUDENT PRESENTATIONS

Paediatric clinicians' perspectives of parents' online health information seeking behaviour for the management of cerebral palsy: Help or hindrance? - Lily Shervington

Medical student clinical placements in General Practice as sites of learning and contribution - Samantha Hiew

Medical students' study patterns - Taylen Furness

20 June

Learner health professionals co-constructing health care through language: A discourse perspective.

Associate Professor Robyn Woodward-Kron (Department of Medical Education, University of Melbourne)

27 June

ANZAHPE PRACTICE PRESENTATIONS

Dangerous ideas in medical education - Rebecca Szabo, Elke Heindrich and Anne Powell

Exploring the impact of small grant funding in facilitating early career development of cancer researchers - Erin Turner and Kate Reid

Constructing professional identity: The international medical learner experience - Anita Horvath

Incorporating interactive learning into large group teaching - Lauren Sanders, Justin Tse and Jayne Lysk

Time

1-2pm Thursdays

Location

DME Library
Room N714, Level 7
Medical Building
Parkville Campus

Convenor: Associate Professor Robyn Woodward-Kron robynwk@unimelb.edu.au

Coordinator: Michelle Grainger michelle.grainger@unimelb.edu.au