

Department of General Practice
List of Past Honours Projects

2018	Project
	Exploring healthcare professionals' experiences of implementation of the Stepping Up model of care
	The 'CRISP-A' Study: Exploring methods for communicating the harms and benefits of aspirin to reduce the risk of developing colorectal cancer in general practice.
	Exploring the views and attitudes of health care professionals towards inclusion of oral health assessment in diabetes management in community health services
	The SHAPE Study: Exploring sexual health resources and a discussion checklist for older Australians
	The perspectives of oral health professionals regarding shared diabetes oral health management
	The role of GPs in people's pursuit of unproven stem cell treatments: views and experiences of Australian patients
	The pathways into and common characteristics between Early Pregnancy Assessment Services in Victoria
2017	Project
	The views and practices of Australian GPs in the management of people's pursuit of unproven stem cell treatments.
	Reproductive coercion: understandings and perceptions of health professionals.
	The STOP study (Phase II): Written information about how antidepressants work.
	The views of health care professionals on statin prescribing and deprescribing in the very elderly.
	Glycaemic variability and time in target, and their association with diabetes-specific distress and quality of life in people with type 2 diabetes.
	What do dentists, GPs and community pharmacists do about bad breath?
	Hospital managers perceptions of a workplace support program for family violence.
	'It's a necessary evil that we have mandatory reporting'. General Practitioners' and Practice Nurses' Experiences and Perceptions of Mandatory Reporting of Child Abuse.
	What are the perceptions of the 6-week postnatal check of Burmese refugee women resettled in Australia?
	A qualitative analysis of the factors that influence young women's contraceptive choice.
	Feasibility study of a self-completed colorectal cancer risk prediction tool in general practice.
2016	Project
	Screening for Risk Behaviours in Young People attending General Practice: Are there any missed opportunities?

	Victorian GPs' perceptions of treating children in general practice
	Pilot study of an electronic medical record based clinical decision support tool in the evaluation of cardiovascular risk in general practice
	"Not just a number" Women's perceptions of online support compared to face-to-face when experiencing intimate partner violence
	Health service collaboration to address refugee maternal oral health
	A step towards personalised care: how do patients understand their experience of collaborative depression care in primary care?
2015	Project
	"They won't cure it, but they will make you feel better". Exploring the attitudes to, and use of, Complementary and Alternative Medicine by those with Chronic Hepatitis C
	Evaluating sexual health within Australian residential colleges: Implications for future interventions
	Navigating the fading mind: GPs' views on deteriorating driving ability in people with dementia
	Unraveling the double helix in primary care': Understanding General Practitioners views on the impact of genetic medicine in primary care
	Bundap Marram Durn-Durn: Protecting Those Who Serve
	Unrecognised and undiagnosed: the link between unwanted sexual contact and poor mental health in women
	Risking it all: A Secondary Analysis of Cross-Sectional Data on Commonly Co-occurring Health Risks in Young People
	Introducing the 'e' in health: Uses and views of e-health in the Australian primary care setting: An online survey of General Practitioners
2014	Project
	Walking with the black dog: can exercise predict major depressive disorder in patients with subthreshold symptoms?
	Pilot Study of Health Screening of Adolescents for Risk of Dysglycaemia and Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus
	Understanding depression through the eyes of self-harmers
	Exploring the Communication and Collaboration between General Practitioners (GPs) and Community Pharmacists – A Qualitative Study
	A Mobile Phone Application Addressing Intimate Partner Violence – What Do Young Women Want?
	Someone who was willing to listen and not judge – Secondary analysis of the impact of motivational interviewing
	Understanding primary mental health care access and utilisation among young Hazara refugees living in Melbourne
	The Link Randomised Controlled Trial: an exploration of adolescents seeking help for mental health issues using usual search strategies or the 'Link' dedicated online help-seeking program
2013	Project
	'Sometimes Cathartic, Sometimes Quite Raw!': Comparing Benefit and Harm in a General Practice Trial for Intimate Partner Violence
	The current role of the tuning fork in general practice

	"The sensible thing to do" - Exploring young women's knowledge and understanding of contraception and the influences on their contraceptive choice
	Identifying barriers and enablers to effective health service delivery for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australians at risk with the justice system
	Can laser acupuncture be used as a treatment for vulvodynia? A pilot study
	Young women's understanding of the factors affecting their fertility
	An ethical evaluation of informed decision making for prostate cancer screening
	Does general practice provide a practical setting to tackle youth alcohol use? An Australian perspective
	Type 2 diabetes care and social disadvantage
	The Collingwood Living in Harmony Project: Literature Review and Vietnamese Sub-study
2012	Project
	The association between socioeconomic status and telephone coaching for type two diabetes in general practice; a secondary analysis of the PEACH study
	Young men's perceptions and understandings of contraception
	Overweight and obese adolescents in general practice
	Using evidence to develop guidance for the use of Bibliotherapy for depression in primary care
	Musculoskeletal conditions in adolescent males: an opportunity for preventive care?
2011	Project
	Effects of long-term use of anti-depressants
	Mental health and self-harm in young people
	Exploring the ethical frameworks available to help guide GPs in responding to socioeconomic disadvantage in everyday practice