

Artist: Emma Bamblett – Wemba Wemba
Artwork: Journey, Commitment & Respect

STRONG VOICES, STRONG COMMUNITIES

Share your story about living with diabetes

We acknowledge all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Traditional Custodians of Country and recognise their continuing connection to land, sea, culture and community. We pay our respects to Elders past and present, and honour the strength, wisdom and resilience of First Nations communities.

About this study

- A national study about emotional wellbeing and diabetes
- We listen to your story about living with diabetes

What's involved?

- Online survey or a yarn, Phone or in person where possible
- About 20 minutes, once a year for 3 years

Why it Matters

- Your voice helps improve support for mob and communities
- Helps shape better, culturally safe diabetes care

This study aims to:

- Better understand the emotional side of living with diabetes
- Strengthen culturally safe support services

Want to know more or take part?

We are committed to working respectfully with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities.

Taking part is your choice

mind-map@acbrd.org.au

redcap.link/7f4ddset

Who is leading this study?

The Australian Centre
for Behavioural Research
in Diabetes

Partners for better health

DEAKIN INSTITUTE FOR HEALTH
TRANSFORMATION

Your information is confidential, securely stored, and never reported in a way that identifies you.

This research is funded by the National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC) [Grant Number: GNT2033232] and approved by Deakin University Human Research Ethics Committee (2024/HE00401).