

Department of Medical Education
Melbourne Medical School

The Department of Medical Education holds weekly research roundtables presented by both our own staff and visitors to the Department.

Research roundtables

May 2019

2 May

“We’re a bit behind and we’re going to have to catch up” but will the learner learn? Understanding educational needs of the Australian genomics healthcare workforce.

Dr Amy Nisselle (Australian Genomics Health Alliance, Melbourne Genomics Health Alliance, Murdoch Children’s Research Institute, University of Melbourne)

Dr Belinda McClaren (Australian Genomics Health Alliance, Murdoch Children’s Research Institute, University of Melbourne)

9 May

No roundtable scheduled

16 May

Ethical limits to sharing information about patients.

Professor Clare Delany (DME, University of Melbourne)

23 May

Exploring the impacts of continuing professional development (CPD) programs in the health professions.

Louise Allen (PhD candidate, Monash Institute for Health and Clinical Education, Monash University)

30 May

The pedagogy of fallibility.

Julia Harrison (PhD candidate, Monash University/Head, Patient Safety, Monash Medicine)

Time

1-2pm Thursdays

Location

DME Library
Room N714, Level 7
Medical Building
Parkville Campus

Convenor: Associate Professor Robyn Woodward-Kron robynwk@unimelb.edu.au

Coordinator: Michelle Grainger michelle.grainger@unimelb.edu.au