THINKING ABOUT DOING A PHD IN MEDICAL OR HEALTH PROFESSIONS EDUCATION?

Come and join us for a panel discussion with PhD graduates in medical education followed by refreshments.

Who should attend: People thinking about graduate research in medical or health professions education, including clinical teachers, current EXCITE students, MD students, and people from related disciplines. The panel discussion will cover what motivated participants, the experience of PhD study, and where it can lead to. The event will provide an opportunity to ask questions, learn about PhD study and experiences, and to meet research staff in an informal setting. This is an in-person event.

Date: Monday 7 August 2023

Time: 5.30-7.00pm

Location: Parkville campus, University of Melbourne (Venue to be confirmed)

For catering purposes, please register your attendance via this link.
