

THE UNIVERSITY OF MELBOURNE

Clinical Psychiatry Course

A new pathway for psychiatry trainees

Come and learn face-to-face.
Hybrid and flexible learning options also available.

The Department of Psychiatry is proud to introduce the Clinical Psychiatry Course, a newly accredited, non-award program designed to strengthen the preparation and professional readiness of future psychiatrists. Developed through extensive consultation with key clinical and academic stakeholders, this course represents a significant milestone in advancing psychiatric education and training.

Tailored specifically for participants undertaking or planning to enter the Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists (RANZCP) training program, the Clinical Psychiatry Course provides a practical, clinically focused learning experience that builds a strong foundation in psychiatric principles and contemporary practice.

Delivered through a hybrid learning model, the program blends face-to-face teaching with interactive online components, ensuring flexible access to high-quality education regardless of location.

Participants will engage with leading clinicians, educators, and researchers, gaining exposure to real-world case discussions, evidence-based approaches, and essential frameworks that underpin effective psychiatric care.

By combining flexibility, clinical relevance, and academic rigour, the Clinical Psychiatry Course offers an accessible and affordable opportunity to enhance knowledge, strengthen professional capability, and prepare for excellence in psychiatric practice.

Course Structure:

Each subject runs for 20 weeks, with a two-week break in between:

Year 1

- Principles of Core Psychiatry I
- Principles of Core Psychiatry I

Year 2

- Specialist Areas in Psychiatry I
- Specialist Areas in Psychiatry II

Year 3

- Advanced Psychiatry I
- Advanced Psychiatry II

Practice OCA workshops and practice exam workshops occur at the end of each subject.

Delivery (Hybrid)

Face-to-face at the University of Melbourne and online

Course cost:

$10,620 ($1,770 per subject)

Email for more information:
psychiatry-education@unimelb.edu.au